

The old offices of The Record and Thursday Printing were burned on Tuesday night. North Wilkesboro firefighters used the demolition of the buildings, which was ruined by fire last March, as a chance to train. By 11 p.m. most of the building was gone, leaving only charred smoldering remains on Wednesday morning.

